A GIGANTIC COAL COMBINE FORMED

To Operate Western Kentucky Mines,

WITH CAPITAL OF $6,000,000

Based On Thirteen Shafts—More Have Been Invited to Come In.

T. C. DU PONT TO BE PRESIDENT

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 15.—The formation of a gigantic coal corporation which will control practically the entire output of the Western Kentucky field took place in this city last night when after several unsuccessful conferences with Gen. T. Coleman du Pont, president of the dissolved "Powder Trust," representative Western Kentucky coal operators reached an agreement to consolidate their mines into one great corporation which is to be known as the du Pont Coal Company and will probably have its main offices in this city. Papers in the agreement will be drawn up at once, but will have to be ratified by the stockholders in each company.

The mine owners here are W. G. Duncan, of Greenville, owner of the W. G. Duncan Coal Company; Judge W. A. Wickliffe, of Greenville, representing the W. L. Wickliffe Coal Company; J. W. Lamb, of Greenville, of the Hillside Company; R. P. Carey, of the Caldwell Coal Company; W. W. Simmons, of Memphis, representing the Broadway Coal Company; and Shelby Gish, one of the largest individual coal property owners in Kentucky and the chief figure in the consolidation.

The mines which will be taken over by the new company are the Luzerne and Graham mines, capacity of 3,675 tons per day, owned by the W. G. Duncan Co.; Powderly and Martwick mines, 1,750 tons per day capacity, owned by the W. A. Wickliffe Company; Broadway mine, with a capacity of 1,000 tons per day, owned by Broadway Coal Company; Hillside, Oakland and Dovey mines, of the Hillside Company, 1,000 tons capacity per day; Central, McHenry, Render and Echols mines, of the Central Coal & Iron Company, owned by Gen. du Pont, with a capacity of 3,500 tons per day, and the Browder and Radiant mines, of the Caldwell Coal Company, with a capacity of 1,600 tons per day.

These mines are situated on the Illinois Central and Louisville & Nashville railroads, and are the largest in Kentucky, the Luzerne mine being the largest on the entire system of the Illinois Central railroad. In addition to these mines twenty-one others probably will be taken over, as their owners were communicated with by wire and may have accepted the proposition. If this is done it will be one of the largest coal corporations in the United States. Gen. T. Coleman du Pont will be the president; the other officers have not been named.

The company will start business with a capital stock of $6,000,000, which will be increased should all of the twenty-one mines be taken over. The deal, besides taking over the mines, includes thousands of acres of coal and timber lands which have not been developed.

S. J. Gish, who was the real promoter of the consolidation, said to-night that the mines would be taken over as fast as details could be worked out.

"It will be the purpose of the du Pont Company," said Mr. Gish, "to furnish a steam coal to the entire South and Southwestern market. Our mines will have a capacity of over 700 railroad cars per day, and we intend to make the company the largest in the United States. In all probability coke ovens will be built."

"The Western Kentucky field is the most uniform vein of coal in the world, and with the Panama Canal opening soon, the field has a great opportunity offered to it."

Mr. Gish has been working on the consolidation scheme more than two years. He recently acquired large gas properties in Kentucky. Associated with him in the consolidation are Daniel Caulfield and L. L. Dunham, both of this city. The mine owners will be given part cash and the remainder in stocks and bonds in the new corporation.

HALE ENTERTAINMENT POSTPONED FOR A MONTH

The following in regard to the W. Powell Hale entertainment which was to have taken place at Dr. Bean's Opera House next Monday night, under the auspices of the Hartford College Lyceum Course, explains itself. It will be seen that it is simply a postponement, and that Mr. Hale, the celebrated impersonator, will appear here just a month later. The letter from the Coit people, who are Mr. Hale's managers, is as follows:

Cleveland, O., Feb. 15, 1913.

Mr. H. E. Brown, Hartford, Ky.
Dear Sir:—We regret to inform you of the necessity of changing the date for W. Powell Hale. This is his first date in our territory coming from the Southern Bureau, and we find they have booked him in such a place the Saturday preceding, that it is impossible, even with Sunday in which to travel, for him to reach you for the 24th.

We have therefore arranged with them instead of making your date the first one this season in our territory, that it will be his last one, just four weeks later, on Monday, March 24th.

Kindly make note of this and arrange to announce and advertise him for the 24th of March.

Yours very truly,

The Coit Lyceum Bureau.
By Arthur C. Coit, President.

WILSON WILL ANNOUNCE CABINET INAUGURAL DAY

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 15.—President-elect Wilson announced definitely to-night that he would not make public the names of his Cabinet until he sent them to the Senate for confirmation March 4.

"I will follow the old-fashioned method," he said, "and not make any announcement until the names of the Cabinet members are sent to the Senate."

Mr. Wilson's remarks were occasioned by the reports from Washington that he would announce his Cabinet at once. He said there was absolutely no truth or authority for the reports.

Mr. Wilson, it is indicated, will ask the men to whom portfolios are offered, to regard the information as confidential. He believes also, it is said, that he ought not make any important announcements until he is actually President of the United States. A premature announcement from outside sources, however, it was admitted, may upset the Governor's plans.

The President-elect was asked if his policy of reserving announcement meant that he was still undecided as to the personnel of the Cabinet, and expected further suggestions.

"I certainly do intend to keep my mind open," he said, "until the last moment in a number of cases. I think the field of possible choices is as full as it possibly can be, but I must say that the number of men who have entered themselves has not been large."

SEEMS HE JUST COULD NOT BREAK INTO JAIL

Marion, Ky., Feb. 15.—Yesterday afternoon Enoch Fritts, aged 18, stepped into Judge Kortinsky's court and made the unusual request that he be put into jail. Fritts had just been tried on a charge of craps shooting, found guilty and fined $24, which he was unable to pay and was released by the court pending good behavior.

After studying the matter over the young man returned to the court and told the Judge that he would rather pay the fine in jail now than at another time, and demanded that he be put into the custody of the Jailor. Judge Kortinsky refused to do this. Fritts then left the courtroom to consult the lawyers in regard to his case, but met with no encouragement, the attorneys telling him that they knew of no law to force the Judge to incarcerate him. He is still a free man.

SLAY SICK MAN FOR HIS MONEY

Hickman Youths Charged With Murder.

GOT $110 FROM THEIR VICTIM

Which He Had Saved to Recuperate His Health—Bold Confession.

MOB VIOLENCE WAS FEARED

Hickman, Ky., Feb. 16.—Within a few hours after the body of John Ritchie was found to-day beneath a bluff overlooking the Mississippi river, here, with the skull crushed into a shapeless mass and the pockets of the man's clothing turned inside out, "Dick" Shelby, a 19-year-old boy, was arrested and an amazing story of a well-laid plot to kill and rob Ritchie was unfolded to the police. Popular feeling against Shelby became so great after the details of his confession became known that officers took the boy from jail this afternoon, drove to Fulton and at that point took a train to Paducah.

Hickman has been in a state of excitement throughout the day, for hardly had the news of the brutal murder spread than Shelby was arrested. His confession, implicating Jesse Bunton, of Dukedom, Ky., followed.

Ritchie's body was found two blocks above the business section of the city, on the bank of the river. His head showed twelve crushing blows with a fourteen-inch iron bar, with a heavy bolt on one end. The skull was burst in four places. After the man had been killed, he was robbed, and his body was then thrown over a thirty-foot bluff. It fell on the river bank, and beside it was found the iron bar which the slayers used.

Ritchie was an employee of the Mengel Box Company, at this place. He believed he was a victim of tuberculosis and had been saving his money, with which to go West. Shelby said that $110 and a gold watch was taken from his body. A crowd gathered at the point where the body was found, and Shelby was among the number who gazed down at the slain man. When a purse was being made up to obtain bloodhounds to trace the murderer, Shelby was one of the first to contribute. He gave fifty cents.

Later in the day, officers learned that Ritchie was last seen with C. O. Shelby, who is known as "Dick" Shelby. They went to his room at his boardinghouse and found bloody clothes. He was still at the scene of the murder when he was taken into custody. He made no resistance and at once admitted that he had killed Ritchie.

Hundreds of persons pressed about and followed Shelby as he was being taken to jail. Behind bars, he was calm and his nerve was unshaken. He asserted at first that he had killed Ritchie in self-defense, and in response to questions, declared that no one else was connected with the crime. Told that he probably would hang, he answered:

"Let them hang me. I don't care."

When officers showed Shelby that they had got more facts, the proprietress of the boarding-house at which Ritchie stayed telling the police that Ritchie had $110 when he paid his bill last night, the boy weakened and gave the whole story.

Shelby said he and Bunton had been planning for the past two weeks to kill Ritchie. Bunton has not been here, but he and Shelby used the telephone and mail to frame their plot, he said. Bunton arrived yesterday afternoon, and at 8 o'clock last night the two lured Ritchie up the railroad track, and about two squares past the business section of the city, murdered him.

The boy told the police that he and his accomplice intended to throw the body into the river, but the body lodged at the water's edge. He said he had gotten $55 and a watch and Bunton had taken $55 in gold. He told the police that the money he had obtained was under a plank in a building at his boarding house. The money was found at the place designated.

Ritchie's hands were bruised and skinned, indicating that he had tried to ward off the blows of his assailants directed at him, and put up a strong fight for his life. His slicker coat was taken off and searched, as also was his coat. When the body was thrown over the bluff, the face struck first and was badly crushed.

Shelby's confederate is said to have departed on an early train this morning. His arrest in Mayfield was reported, but the news lacked confirmation.

Police officers, fearing mob violence, in face of the open threats heard against Shelby by Ritchie's friends, were afraid to leave the boy in the jail over night, and decided to take him to Paducah for safe keeping.

Arrive at Paducah.

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 17.—Deputy Sheriff W. O. West arrived here at 1:30 this morning from Hickman, Ky., with C. O. Shelby, charged with having murdered John Ritchie. He was placed in the county jail for safe keeping.

EQUITY MEN OF COUNTY REJECT TOBACCO OFFER

At a meeting of the Ohio County Union of the American Society of Equity at Hartford last Friday, the proposition for the sale of 1,000,000 or more pounds of Ohio county tobacco, delivered at Hartford, was rejected. There were about 200 members in attendance and the session lasted several hours.

The meeting was presided over by County Chairman L. B. Tichenor, and H. M. Pirtle acted as secretary. The Finance Committee presented a report of the offers made for the Ohio county pool. The officials stated that the prices offered did not come up to those offered at other points in the district for the Equity tobacco. The buyers claim that a portion of the Ohio county crop does not grade up to the tobacco in other counties and is not worth so much. It is generally admitted, however, that the Ohio county crop, as a whole, is above the average in other counties. The Equity officials in Ohio county say that the action taken Friday will serve to hold up all of the Equity sales in the Green River district. It is known that a great quantity of the Equity tobacco in Daviess county has already been delivered in Owensboro.

There has been no Equity tobacco delivered in McLean county and very little of the Hancock county Equity tobacco.

ALL OF GOV. WILSON'S MEASURES ARE PASSED

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 14.—Gov. Wilson's seven anti-trust bills passed the Senate Thursday. All of the bills received at least fourteen votes—those of the twelve Democrats and of two Republicans.

Only three of the bills were seriously opposed, the others going through practically unanimously.

The three bills opposed were the main bill, which defines trusts, prohibits acts calculated to create monopoly and makes a violation of the provisions of the bill a misdemeanor; the bill to prohibit the formation of holding companies and prohibiting existing corporations from acquiring additional stock of other corporations except in certain stipulated instances, and the one prohibiting merged companies from acquiring stock of other corporations.

No serious opposition to the bills in the House is anticipated and they are expected to pass that body next week.

BECOMES BRIDE AFTER A FIFTEEN YEARS' WAIT

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 15.—When his proposal in marriage was refused by Miss Maude Jackson because he didn't own a farm, Robert W. Parr asked her if she would wait for him. She gave her word, saying she would. To-day he came back from Freeborn, Minn., carrying the deed to a big tract of land in his pocket. Miss Jackson was as good as her word. They were married this morning at Inglesfield, the girl's home. He is forty and she is thirty-nine years old.

DUAL LIFE LED BY AMOS ADAMS

Central City Man Track-ed and Arrested.

IS ACCUSED OF SAFE-BLOWING Was Considered One of City's Most Respected and Honest Men.

HAD FLED TO MOUNTAIN TOWN

Central City, Ky., Feb. 15.—Chief of Police Langley returned to-day with Amos Adams, one time a citizen of Central City, who nine months ago blew open the safe of the Wallace Hardware Company. It is charged, and skipped for parts unknown. Adams was one of the most respected citizens, being considered an honest man. He had borrowed money from the banks, ran accounts, but met all debts promptly.

The night on which the safe was blown open was a rainy one, and Adams was tracked by a pair of gum boots which he wore. Chief Langley, never suspecting that Adams was the man, went to his door to make inquiry, and on account of the answer given by Adams' wife, became suspicious and searched the barn, where he found burglars' tools and the gum boots. In a well was found burglar's keys which opened every store in town.

Adams walked twenty miles in the rain, boarded a freight car and went into the mountains, finding work at Corbin, in the mines. After a month he returned for his wife and two children and with them walked in the night in a pouring rain to Nelson, where they took the train for Harlan. There they started a soft drink stand, the income from which was so great that at the present time they were running the largest hotel, restaurant and grocery in the town.

Adams wrote to an installment furniture house for goods, giving Central City as his former home. The house wrote to Central City business men for reference, and Chief Langley, ever on the alert, got wind of it and went for his man. Entering Harlan in plain clothes, he stopped at a small boarding house, making inquiry for Adams. The latter was going under an assumed name, but the party from whom Langley was seeking information immediately recognized him from the description given, the proprietor of the best hotel in the town.

Langley slipped up to the hotel, found Adams and wife in the restaurant. The wife screamed and fell fainting to the floor. Adams, upon the request of Langley, held up his hands and went quietly to jail, the wife, who had recovered, and the children following in the rear and arousing the entire town with their screams.

Adams asked permission to secure his hat from the rear room, which was promptly refused. Chief Langley, having been warned that he was a dangerous man, Marshal Britton placed the hat on his head and told Langley that always in the restaurant Adams had in full view two loaded revolvers. Langley left with his man on Friday, and as he passed through town, Adams lowered the blind of the coach so that his old acquaintances could not see him. He was placed in the Greenville jail and will have his trial at the next term of court. He denies nothing. The parting with the wife was pathetic, he telling her to remain and conduct the business, that everything was paid for except $13 worth of groceries, on which she had thirty days. The wife clung to the husband through all his career, although she knew the life he was leading. He is thirty-three years old, and she is twenty-one. He married her in Central City, when she was about thirteen years old. She was the daughter of John Adcock, of this city.

HONEYMOON STOPPED BY MEXICAN BULLETS

Mexico City, Feb. 15.—The note of tragedy reached crescendo in the symphony of battle to-day when R. E. Meredith, husband of a Kentucky girl, formerly Miss Jett, of Cincinnati, was shot down in the lobby of the Porter Hotel.

Meredith, an agent of the National Cash Register Company, was on his honeymoon and arrived in Mexico City only a day prior to the uprising of Diaz.

Late this afternoon he was crossing the lobby of the hotel when a hail of bullets from machine guns was fired through the window of the hotel and Meredith fell, his head pierced by a score of missiles.

Meredith fell nearly at the feet of his bride of a few weeks. From which faction's guns the bullets came is not known. The body was carried to the room of the couple and will be held until the restrictions of battle are lifted from the city and then sent North. His bride is prostrated.

OLDEST MEMBER OF OLD BUCK CREEK CHURCH DIES

J. G. Atherton, the oldest native of the Nuckols neighborhood, died Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Sallie Vance.

He was born on October 23, 1820, about one and one half miles from Nuckols and had lived in that neighborhood practically all his life. Death was caused by infirmities incident to old age. The deceased was a disciple of the Baptist faith and was the oldest living member of the Old Buck Creek Baptist Church.

He is survived by eight children, his wife having died a number of years ago. His children are: Mrs. Sallie Vance and John G. Jr., of Nuckols; A. N. Atherton, of Livermore, and Mesdames Nannie Young, Mary Frowen, Abbie Spaulding, Alice Young and Dock Bennett, of Texas.

The funeral service was from the Old Buck Creek cemetery, Liv-11 o'clock Thursday morning, preached by Rev. B. F. Jenkins, of Owensboro. The interment was in the Old Buck Creek cemetery, Livermore lodge No. 186, F. and A. M., of which the deceased was a member, had charge of the funeral services.

FIFTY DIVORCE CASES PENDING IN DAVIESS

Out of sixty-three appearances, or new suits, brought to the February term of the Daviess Circuit Court, twenty-five are for divorce. There are now pending on the docket for trial nearly fifty divorces cases, and the average for each new term of the court is increasing. Abandonment, cruel and inhuman treatment and infidelity to the marriage vows are the chief causes alleged in the numerous petitions for separation.

There are fifty-seven new common-law actions instituted for trial at the February term. Of these twenty are for damages. Personal injuries constitute the majority of actions in this line of suits, and the total amount of money being sued for aggregates $75,000.

CENTRAL CITY MAN DIES IN POOL ROOM

Central City, Ky., Feb. 14.—J. R. Carr, a well known merchant of the town, fell dead yesterday morning in the pool room of Carr & Hughes, situated just north of the I. C. railroad. There were quite a number of men standing around in the room, to whom Mr. Carr had been talking, but had not complained of feeling indisposed.

For a number of years he had been engaged in the mercantile business, conducting it successfully, though he had reached the age of 68 years. Besides his widow he leaves two children, James, of this city, and Mrs. Ben Searey, of the county; two brothers, Sam and Dink Carr, and two sisters, Miss Mollie Carr, of this city, and Mrs. White, of Madisonville.

Here's a Busy Mother.

Mayfield, Ky., Feb. 16.—Twin boys were born to Mrs. Jake Perkins, of this city. The sprightly youngsters are the fifth set of twins that have been born to Mrs. Perkins. Mrs. Perkins is only 24 years of age, has been married seventeen years and is the mother of fifteen children, all of whom are living.

NO FUSION, SAYS CHIEF MOOSER

Addressing the Progressive Followers.

"PARTY HAS COME TO STAY"

He Declares—The Idaho Supreme Court Is Censured Some More.

MR. ROOSEVELT ON HIS METTLE

New York, Feb. 12.—Former President Roosevelt made his first public appearance in the councils of the Progressive party for many weeks to-night, to say that so far as he was concerned, there would be no compromise, no amalgamation, no yielding in the fight for the party.

"The Progressive party has come to stay," he declared.

The ex-President again attacked the Supreme Court of Idaho for its decision denying the Progressive party a place on the ticket at the fall election.

Many of the conspicuous figures in the Progressive campaign last fall gathered for the Lincoln day dinner of the National Progressive Club. The 2,000 seats at the table were all taken, many by women and hundreds of spectators filled the balcony overlooking the ballroom in which the dinner was held. Albert J. Beveridge, Progressive candidate for Governor of Indiana at the last election; Oscar S. Straus, who ran for Governor in New York; William H. Hotchkiss, former Progressive State Chairman, and ex-Congressman W. Bourke Cockran also made speeches.

Col. Roosevelt declared unequivocally against the amalgamation or fusion of the Republican and Progressive parties, as recently proposed by one of the leaders in the Progressive campaign.

"The Progressive party," said he, "will amalgamate with neither of the two old parties, both of which are boss-controlled and privilege-ridden. We believe that in each of these parties, however, there are hundreds of thousands of good, honest men and women who are progressives. The only place for them is in our party. We will welcome them in and we will treat them on an exact equality with ourselves, paying not the slightest heed to whether they are ex-Republicans or ex-Democrats. We are all Progressives together and nothing else, we of the Progressive party, and ours is the only party competent to mold aright the future of this mighty Republic."

Col. Roosevelt declared that the decision of the Supreme Court of Idaho was "an even greater blot on the American judiciary than the Scott decision itself," and added that "no anarchist ever can or ever will hurt the courts as they are hurt by such action as this of the highest court of the State of Idaho."

Shows a decision he asserted "shows the need of the power of popular recall of the judiciary."

Colonel Roosevelt repeatedly returned to the subject of the decision of the Supreme Court of Idaho in the election cases, and again voiced the opinion that this decision constituted "an even greater blot on the American judiciary than the Scott decision itself." The court he characterized as "the most potent instrument in this denial of justice."

"Abraham Lincoln was no less guilty than the three men whom the Supreme Court of the State of Idaho imprisoned for contempt because they criticized, in less severe language than Lincoln, a decision as indefensible from every standpoint of law and justice and popular rights as the Dred Scott decision itself," he said.

Colonel Roosevelt spoke to Progressives at their Lincoln birthday banquet. The first political utterance he has made in months, his address was permeated with passages from Lincoln's writings and speeches. In Lincoln's words, he replied to the critics of the Progressive party, likened Republican leaders to "the old, exclusive silk-stocking Whiggery," which "opposed Lincoln before the Civil War," and declared that the time had come for the people to act as the court of last resort.

WHY NOT MATE CANARY WITH OSTRICH OR EAGLE?

Washington, Feb. 14.—Continuing his attacks on the Department of Agriculture, Mr. Aiken, of New York, has presented a resolution that the Secretary of Agriculture try the interbreeding of turkey buzzards and humming birds. The resolution appropriated $1,000 for the purchase of six high-grade male turkey buzzards and 95 thoroughbred humming birds, each to be examined and passed upon by Dr. Melvin, Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, as to soundness of limb and heart strength, in order that a test may be made as to the value of the offspring, and to report to Congress whether the experiment is more valuable to the American farmer than the one now going on in this bureau, where thousands of dollars have been expended in buying zebra in Africa and transporting them to the District of Columbia, where they are joined in wedlock to Missouri mules, the offspring of which seems to be a cross between a North Dakota jack rabbit and an Australian kangaroo.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Of the millions of great or less degree who during the years have passed over the firmament of time few have found places among the fixed stars, but the vast multitude are commingled in the galaxy of departed spirits "where no mention of them more must be heard of"—their identity lost in the vortex of oblivion.

Among these of transcendent magnitude and brilliancy there are ever visible to the naked eye Moses and Solomon, Christ and Paul, Alexander the Great and Caesar, Gregory and Luther, Napoleon and Cromwell, Gladstone and Bismarck, Washington and Lincoln. These have by precept, example or achievement, more indelibly affected mankind, and have done more to shape the world than any others since time began, and their rank as the world's memorials is estimated beyond dispute.

That Abraham Lincoln was born of woman—had human origin—is hard to comprehend, for his transition from a native of the wild hills of Kentucky to the chief seat among the statesmen of the world, gives to his rise a seeming divine power. It may be said that he sprang from mud to mighty.

His tragic death was mourned by but a portion of the people, but as succeeding years demonstrated the purity of his motives and his unselfish devotion to the interests of the whole people, his veneration and adulation is as though a mighty chorus from North and South ever sings in unison hosannas to his name.

As Christ died for the freedom of man from the thralldom of sin, so Lincoln died for the manumission of the body.

He has by popular acclaim been raised to a pedestal in the roster of the mighty masters of the ages.—[H. R. Probasco in Cincinnati Enquirer.]

MUCH "RED TAPE" AND FORMALITY

Attends Canvass of Electoral Vote.

A PROCLAMATION IS ISSUED

Wilson and Marshall Declared Elected President and Vice President.

FINAL TOUCHES GIVEN MATTER

Washington, Feb. 12.—Congress today declared Woodrow Wilson elected President of the United States and Thomas H. Marshall elected Vice President.

The electoral vote certificates, opened in the presence of the House and Senate, sitting together, showed that Mr. Wilson and Mr. Marshall received 435 electoral votes; that Theodore Roosevelt for President, and Hiram V. Johnson, for Vice President, received eighty-eight votes, and that William Taft for President, and Nicholas Murray Butler, for Vice President, received eight votes.

The official count took a little more than an hour.

The reading of the certificate of New Jersey's vote was accorded to Senator Martine. In a loud voice he announced the State's fourteen votes for Woodrow Wilson, and Senator Bacon was unable to stop an outburst of applause.

When the State of Utah was called near the end of the list, a round of applause, led by Senator Smoot, greeted the first vote cast for Taft and Butler. Another round greeted the only other votes cast for Taft—four from Vermont.

When the House and Senate finally got into joint session the counting of the vote began. There was tense interest at first, but as the count went on, conversation on the floor almost drowned the announcements of the tellers. Representative Rucker, of Missouri, persisted in announcing votes for "William Wilson."

As each certificate was read, it was approved and recorded. An attempt at applause when Alabama's twelve votes were announced for Wilson was summarily cut off with the announcement that demonstrations were forbidden.

The certificates from the States, each sealed in the envelope in which it was delivered, were taken out of the Senate vault early today and put into a big rosewood box, to be carried to the House chamber. House and Senate had made arrangements, by formal orders, to spend business shortly before 1 o'clock and assemble in the House chamber in the "joint convention" provided for by the Constitution.

Two Senate pages, William F. Jurgenson and Nelson C. Carlisle, had been designated to carry the box of electoral votes. Ahead of them, in the line of march decided upon by officers of the Senate, came Sergeant-at-Arms E. L. Cornelius, and immediately behind him Senator Bacon, presiding officer of the Senate; Secretary Bennett and the members of the Senate in a double column.

Formality attended every stage of the proceedings leading up to the count of the vote. Senators Billingham and Martine and Representatives Rucker, of Missouri, and S. W. Smith, of Michigan, had been appointed tellers for the respective Houses to canvass and count the vote. Their places had been arranged directly in front of the Speaker's chair, where they took the place of the House clerks during the progress of the joint convention.

The honor of presiding over the joint convention fell to Senator Bacon, as presiding officer of the Senate. A chair at the left provided a place for Speaker Clark and House members had arranged to vacate the first four rows of seats at the right of the Speaker's desk to make room for Senators.

The program provided that the Senate, carrying the electoral vote, should be met at the door of the House by Doorkeeper Joseph J. Sineet and announced, the members of the House receiving the visitors with a rising welcome. The electoral vote, borne by the two pages, was required to be delivered direct to the Speaker's desk, where the presiding officer of the joint convention took charge of it, opened the certificates, asked if any "objection" had been filed to any State's vote, and handed the formal certificates to the tellers for counting.

The total vote as ascertained by the tellers, constituted the official total of the Wilson and Marshall electoral vote. The official proclamation by Senator Bacon, prescribed in form by the rules governing today's proceedings was as follows:

"This announcement of the count of the vote, by the President of the Senate, shall be deemed a sufficient declaration of the persons elected President and Vice President of the United States, for the term beginning March 4, 1913, and shall be entered, together with a list of the votes, on the journals of the two Houses."

INDICATIONS ARE THAT MINE OFFICIALS HOLD ON

The annual election of the United Mine Workers of America in District 25 was held at the various locals last Saturday and resulted in the re-election and endorsement of all the present officers, says the Central City Argus. In fact, none of the present officials had any serious opposition except National Board Member Geo. Baker, who defeated former President Robert M. Roll by a big majority.

The exact result of the election will not be known until Secretary-Treasurer Herman Vincent calls the tellers together about March 1, but enough can be told by the way the locals went to assure the re-election of all the present officials. Their good service has been recognized and the miners think they deserve their endorsement. Mr. Vincent was the only official who did not have some opposition, but there was no nomination against him.

The officials for the ensuing year will therefore be: National Board Member, George Baker; District President, L. B. Walker; vice president, H. L. Rinder; secretary-treasurer, H. H. Vincent. The election for District Board members is not yet certain.

OUTSHINE ALL RECORDS

Washington, Feb. 12.—Members of the Inaugural Committee are beginning to show some slight signs of nervousness over the extent of the problem presented by the unexpected growth of the procession of March 4, which promises to be the longest inaugural parade that has ever passed down Pennsylvania avenue.

Although it is several weeks off, requests for places for 50,000 men in the line already have been received. It is feared that further requests will make the great band of marching men and horses difficult to direct.

The civic portion of the parade alone will aggregate 20,000 men, according to a partial list drawn up by the committee to-day. This division is being augmented every day and within the next three weeks may be doubled.

To date, it was announced, the State of Ohio has outdone all other States of the Union in sending representatives for the procession and the inauguration ceremonies. Formal notification was received by the committee that the entire Ohio Legislature will adjourn for several days and come to Washington in a body.

PUTS HEAD ON DYNAMITE, THEN APPLIES A MATCH

Crab Orchard, Ky., Feb. 14.—Edward Parker, 57, who lives in the Falls Lick neighborhood, four miles northeast of Crab Orchard, while temporarily insane, went out to his barn, placed a stick of dynamite on the ground and then laid his head on the dynamite. This done, he applied a match to the dynamite, blowing off his head, neck, right shoulder and arm, of which no part has been found.

Mrs. Parker, who had gone to the barn to milk and was near when the explosion took place, was knocked down, as was the cow, but neither was hurt.

Parker leaves several children and was liked by all who knew him.

Killed by Falling Tree.

Williamstown, Ky., Feb. 14.—Boyd Porterfield was killed at Dry Ridge by a tree falling on him. He had chopped the tree down when it lodged. He ran under it to cut off a branch and release it, when it fell on him, crushing him to death.

HELPING HAND FOR FARMERS

State Experiment Station Is Ready

TO GIVE THEM ASSISTANCE

Advice As To Maintenance Of Soil Fertility—Analysis When Asked.

IS A MATTER OF IMPORTANCE

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 12.—It is probably not generally known among the farmers of the State that the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, conducted in connection with State University in this city, is willing and anxious to aid them free of charge in solving the numerous problems which are presented to the agriculturist and livestock raiser. One of these is that of increasing the soil fertility. In a bulletin prepared by H. R. Hendrick, assistant agronomist of the experiment station, and which will be issued to-morrow, an instructive review is given of what Kentucky soils most need and the best methods for bringing each to its highest development of fertility. The bulletin is as follows:

"Two things which probably hinder the success of farmers more than any others are the economical maintenance of soil fertility and right farm management. Only by building up and by keeping up the fertility of the soil can large yields be continuously produced, but after this has been accomplished, good crops can be produced on a soil that is in order to realize a good net profit upon one's investment."

"Every farmer should know, to begin with, what amounts of the plant food elements—nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium—are in his soil. All the other essential plant food elements are present in Kentucky soils in sufficient quantities for maximum yields of crops. These data can be furnished by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. The analyses of the typical soil areas of Kentucky are now on file at the experiment station, and if relatively accurate data cannot be furnished for any particular farm of this State, instructions for the collection of soil for analysis will be furnished upon application to Dr. A. M. Peter, head of the division of soil chemistry of the experiment station, and free report will follow. Samples of soil to be analyzed should always be taken according to instructions. Whether or not lime is needed to correct soil acidity can be very readily determined by experiment upon a small plot in connection with the sowing of red clover. The plowed surface of a soil should contain not less than 8,000 pounds of nitrogen, 2,500 pounds of phosphorus and 16,000 pounds of potassium, in order that, in a favorable season and under good tillage, it may be made to produce a maximum crop of corn, wheat or oats. The soils of Kentucky, except in river bottoms and peat swamps, contain an abundance of potassium. If soil does not show an analysis at least up to the above in nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, steps should be taken to add, economically, these elements to a content necessary for large production, and raw ground limestone should be applied if experiment with red clover shows that the soil needs limestone."

"After normal fertility has been secured it should be maintained, and one great factor in this maintenance is good crop rotation. Crop rotations may vary in grain farming from those used in live stock farming, but in either case legume crops, such as clover, alfalfa, cow peas, soy beans and sweet clover must be used to maintain the supply of nitrogen. In stock farming about every third crop should be a legume crop and in grain farming about every second crop. By establishing crop rotations as above indicated and by turning under sufficient manure and green crops to keep up the nitrogen content, the fertility of the soil can be kept up. If in addition phosphorus in some form be added from time to time in quantities corresponding to those removed from the soil in cereal and forage crops and livestock. The basis for such computation will be furnished upon application to the experiment station.

"The location of farm buildings with reference to various parts of the farm and to each other, the laying out of fields and fences, the establishing of drainage systems, the working out of crop rotations, forms for farm accounting, etc., are among the problems of farm management which bear a strong relation to the success or the failure of the owner of a farm."

"The division of extension of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station has decided to offer assistance, as far as may be possible, to farmers of the State in solving problems of soil fertility, in establishing cropping systems upon the whole or a part of farms, in the production of legume crops and in working out farm management problems. This assistance will be offered through correspondence or when possible by visitation without expense to owners. Applications for such assistance may be made to T. R. Bryant, Superintendent of the Division of Extension."

SOME SUGGESTIONS IN TREATMENT OF EGGS

Willard Hansen, Commissioner, State Dairy and Food Bureau, Utah, has issued a warning to commissionaires regarding the marketing of bad eggs. It consists of a large pasteboard placard containing illustrations and the following valuable suggestions:

Provide plenty of clean, dry nests for your hens.

Gather the eggs daily in cool weather and twice in hot or rainy weather.

Do not wash eggs. Use the dirty and small eggs at home.

Keep your eggs in a cool, dry place, which is free from odors.

Don't sell eggs which have been in an incubator.

Market your eggs daily if possible; if not, every other day.

Don't sell eggs which were found in a stolen nest.

Keep the eggs out of the sun when taking them to town.

Don't keep eggs near oil, onions, etc., as they readily absorb odors.

Do not allow your chickens to ramble over the farm, as a vegetable and worm diet does not produce good eggs. Keep your chickens penned up and do not be afraid to feed them grain to get the best results.

Health Warning.

Make every effort to avoid damp, chilled or wet feet. Chilling the feet results in congesting the internal organs, and inflammation of the kidneys and bladder, when rheumatic twinges and pain in back, generally follow. Use Foley Kidney Pills. They are the best medicine made for all disorders of the kidneys, for bladder irregularities, and for back-ache and rheumatism. They do not contain habit-forming drugs. Tonic in action, quick in results. For sale by all dealers.

Positions For All.

It is said that an average of five vacancies a day are being reported to the students of the Bowling Green Business University. Those who have decided to go to the Bowling Green Business University this year have therefore great reason to be encouraged.

Hopeful.

"No use talkin'," said old Deacon Square, "that preacher of ours is sure an optimist."

"How's that?" asked his wife.

"Every Sunday he makes us pass around a collection box as big as a market basket, when a pin tray would do just as well," replied the Deacon.

IN HARTFORD

The Evidence Is Supplied by Local Testimony.

If the reader wants stronger proof than the following statement and experience of a resident of Hartford, what can it be?

Henry Nall, Hartford, Ky., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for about a year and have found them to be an excellent remedy for kidney complaint. I had pains in my back and in my sides. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I procured a box at the Ohio County Drug Co. They did me a world of good and I can therefore recommend them to anyone suffering from kidney trouble."

The above statement must carry conviction to the mind of every reader. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Nall had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c at all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Prop., Buffalo, N. Y.

MAN LIVES ON A NICKEL A DAY

Thinks He Has At Last Solved the

HIGH LIVING COST PROBLEM

He Is a Graduate of Two Universities and Not a Lone Hermit.

IS AN EXTENSIVE LAND OWNER

There lives within a mile of Columbia a graduate of two universities who says that the present agitation against the high cost of living is all rubbish, because the people themselves are responsible. E. E. Tyler, A. B., B. S., A. M., is the man. He, himself, lives on five cents a day. He says that he does not stint himself, either. Tyler received his degrees from the University of Nebraska and the College of Emporia.

Tyler lives on a small tract of land which he calls his experiment station. His father is a graduate of Oberlin College and all of his relatives as far back as he can remember, he says, have been college men. He isn't considered a hermit, because he is sociable, talkative and willing to visit his neighbors.

"The high cost of living doesn't worry me," said Mr. Tyler, "because I use the soil. When I buy anything I cut out the middleman. I make my own land here, but my neighbor over there buys his from the store. When the land from the farmer crosses the threshold of the store, it just doubles in price. I supply my own bacon and it doesn't cost me anywhere near ten cents a pound. Right now they are charging 40 cents a pound for it in the stores. I can take four ears of corn and make enough hominy to last me a week. I can make a bushel of wheat do where the man in town must spend $5.00."

Thus Tyler, who by thrift and work, too, has accumulated a fortune of several thousand dollars, explains, not the high cost of living, but the cost of high living, as he calls it.

"Here," he said, "is a suit of clothes I have had 15 years. I have bowed twice to a college president in that suit and it is good enough suit for any man to wear."

Tyler came to the University of Missouri ten years ago to do some research work in biology. When he arrived he found that the professor under whom he expected to study had gone. Tyler says that he bought with him nearly six tons of material and goods. He could not find a landlady in Columbia who would keep him, so he bought the small farm. The walls of his little cottage are lined with books and engineering journals as well as agricultural publications. In addition to his farm here he says he owns land in Kansas.—[Columbia (Mo.) Cor. Kansas City Star.]

A Grave Offense.

If there is anything in the world that should be made of the choicest ingredients and with the utmost scientific skill, it is our medical preparations which can be instrumental for health and happiness or detrimental and injurious, and it is a deplorable fact that people are sometimes persuaded to accept a substitute for Scott's Emulsion.

RUN-DOWN PEOPLE

Made Strong by Vinol.

Run-down conditions are caused by overwork, worry, too close confinement, a chronic cough or cold which it is difficult to cure.

We want to say to every person in this condition—you need Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, the great strength creator. It will supply iron to the blood in the most easily assimilated form, create a good, healthy appetite, strengthen your digestive organs and make you eat better sleep better and feel better.

A case has just come to our attention from West Scranton, Pa., Mrs. Chas. Proper says: "For three years I was all run down, weak and had no appetite, and after all that time I am glad to say Vinol has brought back my health and strength, which is just what I was told it would do."

We are confident that Vinol is the best body-builder and strength-creator we have ever sold.

Try a bottle on our guarantee to refund your money if it fails to benefit you.

When those recommending such substitutes know the difference, but for their mercenary profit, disregard or ignore the consequences of their act.

The popularity of the curative benefits of Scott's Emulsion has inspired many imitations, most of which contain alcohol, wines or opiates to please the palate and stimulate the spirits, but physicians everywhere insist on the purity and wholesomeness of Scott's Emulsion, knowing that it contains only pure, wholesome cod liver oil, made palatable and predigested by scientific process in sunlight, sanitary laboratories.

Mr. Jarvis and His Vote.

The Fourth District Leader, a Republican paper published at Hardinsburg, Ky., has the following:

A certain Progressive—Jarvis by name—of Ellys, Ky., writing for the Louisville Herald says: "We know too well how we secured our standing space as a party to ever again vote with a party whose sole object is office." Why Mr. Jarvis! we're surprised at you. Have you forgotten that you are a Progressive just because a certain contributor to the Outlook who wanted an office, told you to be, and then made you vote under his own picture?

SHE WAS NEVER KISSED

NOR KISSED ANYBODY

Never Touched the Lips of Her Husband or Son With Her Own.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 14.—Mrs. George W. Deems, who told the Southern District police of this city that she had never kissed her husband, repeated that statement here, adding she had never even kissed her small son.

"I don't reckon many girls have been brought up the way I have been," she said. "My mother and father never believed in kissing, and they always taught me that it was uncleanly and deceitful. They told me that to kiss was to contract and spread disease. When you look at it that way, you see there isn't much charm attached to the thought."

"I never even had the desire to kiss. When I was a child and would go away from home I never kissed my parents either when I left or when I returned."

"But when you were a love-sick bride, surely you kissed your husband just once?" she was asked.

"Never," she declared. "At first he tried to once or twice, but he soon saw that I didn't believe in it. But I was just 14 when I married, and I realize now that I was entirely too young to know what love was. Why, my little seven-year-old child is dearer to me than anybody on earth and yet I have never kissed him."

"He shares my dislike of kissing, too. One time his father kissed him and he ran away. When I found him he was washing his little mouth."

Mrs. Deems is now suing George W. Deems for nonsupport and desertion. She is a slight, pretty little woman of 23 years.

Justice Levinson dismissed the case against Deems and the police turned him over to Sheriff Weis for the action of the Criminal Court.

This is the season of the year when mothers feel very much concerned over the frequent colds contracted by their children, and have abundant reason for it, as every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and paves the way for the more serious diseases that so often follow. #### Wasn't Afraid of Pain.

"A friend of mine," says the voracious chronicler, "went to a dentist the other day to have several teeth extracted."

"I suppose I ought to take something to deaden the pain, but I'm afraid of this gas you use," said the prospective patient.

"The dentist reassured him and wound up with, 'You'll only be unconscious for two or three minutes at most.' The patient took out his pocketbook.

"Never mind that now," said the dentist, "you can pay me when I've finished."

"I wasn't going to pay you," exclaimed the patient, "I was going to count my money!"—[Kansas City Journal.]

IN THE EVENT OF NO DEATH

On Earth For Awhile and What Would Occur.

EARTH WOULD BE OVERFLOWN

Simply Transformed Into a Whirling Mass of Struggling Creatures.

ONLY BY DEATH THAT WE LIVE

Suppose for a moment that the equilibrium between life and death were to cease—imagine death arrested in its work! What would happen? The number of living beings upon the surface of the earth would be so great there would be no room for them. The atmosphere would be transformed into a compact mass of birds and insects which would be impenetrable even by the rays of the sun. In its superabundance, life would suffocate and crush out life itself. And then death would rule supreme all at once. In a few days all organic life would have disappeared from the earth; it would be nothing but a waste and a desert.

That microscopic animal, the Rotifer or Rotator, lays 30 eggs at a time and starts 70 generations every year. If all these individuals remained alive at the end of a year their total would be so enormous as to make a sphere larger than the known universe.

The Cynips, which produce the galls on the oak trees, the rose flea, the phylloxera and other aphidians or insects, which extract the sugar from plants, multiply in enormous numbers. One aphidian produces 25 descendants in a single day; on the second day we should have 25 by 25, or 625 individuals, the third day 15,625, and so on in geometrical proportion. Ten thousand of these insects, lighter than ether, weigh one twentieth of a grain. Ten consecutive generations would make a cube equal to 1,000,000 men weighing 200 pounds each, and this in 10 days.

One fly gives birth to about 20,000,000 individuals in a single summer. At the end of five summers of free propagation we should reach a fantastic figure—32 followed by 36 zeroes.

Consider the vegetables for a moment. One plant of henbane can produce no less than 10,000 seeds in a single year. In five years it would have covered the entire surface of the earth with an impenetrable layer. And what about all the mushrooms that multiply so rapidly in a few days as to make all other vegetable life almost impossible?

The destruction of life is as cruel in the depths of the ocean as it is on earth, and the same terrible things would happen if there were no death in the sea. Take, for instance, the simple codfish. If there were no death, one cod would, in six years, fill the ocean solid full and running over. Of course the original codfish wouldn't do it alone, but she would be responsible for it. One cod lays about 9,000,000 eggs in the year—after she is three years old.

Three years later, if there were no death, all the progeny of this first fish would each deposit 9,000,000 eggs during that year, making a total of 81,000,000,000,000. Of course, these figures are so great that they mean nothing to us, except, perhaps, a gasp of astonishment. Now, take another three years—making six in all from the time the first cod deposited her eggs—each of these cod deposits 9,000,000 eggs, making the total of six years 64,081,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000. And this from one codfish only!

If there were no death, imagine what all the codfish would do at this rate. As a matter of fact, taking codfish alone, if there were no death among them, they would smother everything to death with their numbers in the first three years and leave the old earth dripping codfish into stellar space.

Medusae are destroyed in enormous numbers by aquatic animals; but the stomach of each medusa contains more than 100,000 of those microscopic marine algae called diatoms. One whale at a single mouthful swallows billions of these marine animalcules.

From the bottom to the top of the scale the scene is the same. The greater the propagating power of species, the greater and more rapid is the work of death, so as to preserve the equilibrium, without which all life would cease. Nature seems cruel to us, but is it?

Of course such a thing as no death is a great deal like an irresistible force striking an immovable body, for in unbelievable short that if there were no death, everything with animal and vegetable matter, the air packed solid with birds and all flying things and the seas made solid by fish. The result would actually be a paradox, to the effect that if there were no death everything would promptly be smothered to death. One need but give a few minutes thought to this before they understand why there is death, why, after all, it is only by death that we live.—[New York American.]

Curing a Sheep Skin—All fatty and fleshy matter should first be removed from the skin; then the wool should be well washed with good soap and water, washing the whole skin; when clean, rinse all soap out of the wool. For each skin, take four ounces each of salt and powdered alum and half an ounce of powdered borax. Dissolve these in a quart of hot water, and when cool enough to bear the hand in, stir in enough rye meal to make a thick paste. Spread this paste thoroughly over every part of the flesh side of the skin, which is then folded together lengthwise and left in an airy place for two weeks. Then remove the paste, wash and dry the skin; when nearly dry, the skin must be pulled, worked, stretched, and scraped with a blunt knife shaped like a chopping knife, or with a good piece of hardwood worked to an edge. The more the skin is worked and scraped while drying, the more pliable it will become.

news to nobody, but it is the law.

The Louisville Times suggests that you choose your dictator out of the following list: de la Barra, Madero, Diaz, Blanquet, Garibaldi,
Trevino, Salazar, Orozco, Zapata, Sanchez, Campa and Gomez. For "future reference," might be added
the name of Teddy.

President-elect Wilson announces that he will wait until about the last hour of the first day of his administration to announce the personnel of his cabinet. In the meantime, he says, the list will remain open for any necessary changes or additions. And so this will leave some of the daily newspaper correspondents still guessing.

The whiskey papers of the State
—you can count 'em on the fingers of one hand, led by a noted daily and its afternoon satellite—affording their best to discredit and dis-parage the Webb temperance bill which has passed both Houses of Congress. It is a good bill and will answer its purpose if President Taft does not kill it with his veto pen.

The officials of the Health Department of the city of Louisville have taken steps to stop the spread or existence of the deadly streptococci—the germ that transmits disease
—in the soup houses and restaurants of the city. So if you have occasion to partake of refreshments in the Falls City and happen to see a streptococci coming towards you, just lasso the creature and turn it over to the Health Department.

Hon. Ben Johnson is sure getting after the grafters in Washington,
"a-coming and a-gwine." First, he landed on the big interests by compelling them to pay their just proportion of tax in support of their city government. Then he introduced a joint resolution in Congress, prohibiting hotel and boarding house keepers and taxicab drivers from charging exorbitant rates (as has been their custom) during inauguration week. Mr. Johnson may not be very popular with Washington "business" interests,
but he is out in the States.

That is a nice kettle of fish which the Bull Moose leaders of Ohio county have on stewing for the old-line Republicans. The Mooers want to "fuse" all right, but on their own terms. It is rumored that they have offered to combine with the Republicans on a fusion ticket, but they want to put their own men out for the best paying county offices, such as Sheriff, County Court Clerk, School Superintendent, County Judge, &c., leaving a few of the little no-account offices for the Republicans. The Moose leaders want the pudding, while the Republicans can take the scraps. Isn't that nice? And will the Republicans stand for it?

Will Try It Again.
To the Democrats of Ohio county:
I to-day announce my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of this county, subject to the will of the Democratic party, August 2, 1913.
Friends and Democrats, I have made two unsuccessful races for this office, when Democracy in Ohio county was an uncertain quantity. I put up the best fight for the office
I could, but I lost. I feel grateful to the people for their support and kind treatment in my two former races. If nominated this time, I will do my utmost to be elected.
Regards to my friends.

Respectfully,
T. E. BUTLER.
Shreve, Ky., Feb. 15.

Tom Butler For Sheriff.
Mr. Thomas E. Butler, of Shreve, this county, announces his candidacy, in this issue of The Herald, for the office of Sheriff of Ohio county, subject to the action of the Democrats at the general primary, August 2, 1913.

This is the third time Mr. Butler has been before the people for this position. His first race was made in the year of 1901, when he was defeated by his Republican opponent, Cal. P. Keown, by the small margin of 26 votes, after one of the hardest political battles ever fought in Ohio county. In 1905 he was again chosen as the standard-bearer of the Democrats of Ohio county for the office of Sheriff, being opposed by Mr. R. B. Martin, the Republican nominee. Mr. Butler again made a hard and gallant fight, but went down in the Republican landslide of that year. He is well and favorably known throughout Ohio county and we bespeak for him a large following at the general primary on August 2.

PROF. OZNA SHULTZ FOR SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT

In this issue of The Herald will be found the announcement of Prof. Ozna Shultz, of Prentiss, for the office of Superintendent of Schools of Ohio county.

Prof. Shultz is not only an enthusiastic Democrat, but one of the county's most earnest and progressive school teachers.

He has taught continuously in the public schools for eighteen years, teaching four terms in his home district of Greenbrier and five consecutive terms at Williams Mines. The past year he was principal of the Graded School at Cen-tertown.

Mr. Shultz is well qualified for the office to which he aspires and is very popular at home and where he has taught, as some two hundred of his neighbors, friends and patrons testify in a written petition for him to make the race, but which reached us too late for publication this week, but will perhaps appear later.

DON'T ask us to give you the $8.00 worth of ware with a MAJES-TIC RANGE after our Demonstration Week, as that special offer applied to that week ONLY, February 24th to March 1st.

E. P. BARNES & BRO.,
Beaver Dam, Ky.

PEOPLE WHO KNOW are going

Rock—Dever.

On Sunday evening, February 16,
Miss Eunice Rock and Mr. Robert Dever were united in marriage at the home of the bride, four miles east of Hartford, Rev. Vanhook, of Dundee, performing the ceremony.

The bride was attired most charmingly in beautiful white silk, while the groom wore a handsome suit of blue.

These are two of Ohio county's most popular young people. Mr.

Dever comes from one of the best families of the county, and is a husband and prosperous young farmer of the Sunnysdale vicinity, while his bride belongs to one of the oldest and most prominent families of Ohio county and has been a popular teacher of the county for several years. Both of these young people have a host of friends who wish them the greatest happiness through their wedded life.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

There will be a called meeting of the Ohio County A. S. of E. at the court house in Hartford next Saturday, February 22, at 10 o'clock, sharp. All poolers are urged to be in attendance, as this will be an important meeting.

L. B. TICHENOR, Pres't.
HENRY M. PIRTLE, Sec'y.

A Buyer to Come to Hartford.
In talking over the 'phone late yesterday evening to Mr. L. N.
Robertson, secretary of the American Society of Equity, he informed us that the Executive Committee from Ohio county had been in session and had adjourned, after getting an agreement from a buyer to come to Hartford next Saturday, February 22d, to look over the tobacco situation.

MRS. ELIZA C. DUKE DEAD —FORMERLY LIVED HERE

Mrs. Eliza C. Duke, mention of whose serious illness was made in these columns last week, died at the residence of her son and daughter,
Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Swindlehurst, Livingston, Montana, last Thursday, February 13, 1913, at 12:15
a. m. after two weeks illness of pneumonia.

Mrs. Duke was born March 22,
1841, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Joseph Miller, Beaver Dam. She and Thomas S. Duke were united in marriage September 7, 1865. To this union were born five children:
three sons, W. H., W. T. and A. G.
Duke, two daughters, Mrs. J. E.
Swindlehurst and Mrs. Ida Baird, late wife of Dr. A. B. Baird, Oklahoma City. Two sons, W. H. and
A. G. Duke, and one daughter, Mrs.
Swindlehurst, survive. Her husband, Thomas S. Duke, preceded her in March, 1898, and daughter, Mrs. Baird, in 1907, and son, W. T.
Duke, in 1912.

The remains, accompanied by her son, Mr. A. G. Duke, and daughter, Mrs. Swindlehurst and two children, and Mrs. Alonzo Walker, of Louisville, arrived at Beaver Dam Sunday afternoon and were taken to Mr. John H. Barnes' residence, where they remained until Monday morning, when the remains, accompanied by a number of relatives and friends, were brought direct to the Cumberland Presbyterian Church here. After funeral services conducted by Rev. Mell, of Beaver Dam, her remains were interred in Oakwood cemetery by the side of her husband.

The deceased had been a member of the M. E. Church, South, for a half century.

The friends and relatives of the family, and they are numerous, join The Herald in sincerest sympathy for the family in this their bereavement in the loss of mother.

FAIR & CO.
THE FAIR DEALERS

He never lied

Listen!
We've got sense enough to know that Success in business goes with honest dealing.

George Washington has the greatest reputation of any American, because he never lied. Truthfulness and fearlessness made him the leader of our nation in war and in peace.

George the Third caused the separation of the United States from England because he demanded an unjust tax.

In our business we have followed George Washington—Not George the Third.

We have never misrepresented anything we have sold and have never been afraid to carry upright merchandise, and have never asked unjust prices. We will sell you ten dollars worth for ten dollars.

What the officials say is the best statement, as to its financial standing, ever issued by the First National Bank of Hartford, will be found in another column. It certainly shows the conservative and excellent management of this popular institution.

When you need anything in the general grocery line, call on U. S. Carson. Prices right, goods the best. Highest market price paid for country produce. Telephone your orders in and goods will be delivered promptly. Your patronage is solicited.

EDUCATION consists in knowing things—KNOW how a range is made inside and outside. CALL at our store during our SPECIAL MAJESTIC RANGE DEMONSTRATION—week of February 21 to March 1st. E. P. BARNES & BRO., Beaver Dam, Ky.

Correspondents of The Herald will please start their letters so they will reach us Mondays. Also write on only one side of the paper, lines not too close together. Omit mention of neighbors visiting each other, but write about people going to or coming from certain other places.

Does the word REPUTATION mean anything to you? Stop and think and figure and you will know why the MAJESTIC RANGE HAS THE REPUTATION of being not only the BEST but the LEAST EXPENSIVE. Let the MAN FROM THE FACTORY show you. See our big ad. in this paper. E. P. BARNES & BRO., Beaver Dam, Ky.

Some excitement was created in Hartford Sunday night about 8 o'clock when the soot caught fire in one of the chimneys of Mrs. Hubbard's residence, corner of Union and Mulberry streets. Flames shooting from the chimney made a big torch and the city's fire-fighters responded promptly, as usual. A few dippers of water thrown on the grate fire below and up the chimney created steam which soon drowned the fire out and there was no damage done.

Prof. Oza Shultz, Beaver Dam, Route 1, candidate for School Superintendent; F. M. Allen, Centertown; J. H. Igleheart and wife, Centertown, R. 1; Lon Smith candidate for County Court Clerk, Hartford, Route 6, and L. T. Parks, Beaver Dam, Route 1, were among The Herald's callers yesterday.

The Frankfort State Journal says: "Sheriff T. H. Black, of Ohio county, secured his quietus from the State Auditor yesterday, making the sixty-first sheriff to settle this year for all the taxes in his county. Last year one-half were in February 14. The sheriffs have until March to make their settlement."

Messrs. C. C. Maddox, Hartford, Route 4; W. M. Boyd, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Jailor, and J. B. Tichenor, Centertown; W. B. Taylor, Beaver Dam, Route 1; W. F. Smith, Horton; D. F. Barnes, Hartford, Route 3; W. J. Maden, Hartford, Route 1, and Crit Martin, Beaver Dam, were among The Herald's callers Friday.

Mr. Rollo Stringer, of Central City, entertained with a musical at Mr. and Mrs. R. W. King's, city, Monday night. Those present were: Misses Bessie Wright, Beulah Miles, Rev. and Mrs. Wright and daughter Claudie and son William, Messrs. Henry Porter, Clarence Allen and Prof. McKinney, of Cromwell, Mrs. J. W. O'Bannon and Mr. Orland Park.

Master Cleveland Her, Jr., mention of whose serious illness was made in these columns last week, is very much improved and will soon be convalescent. A specialist, Dr. Burchett, of Louisville, and the local physicians, after consultation, decided not to operate on him and to the delight of all, Master Cleveland has been relieved of the symptoms of appendicitis without the use of the knife.

Mrs. Mahala Rowe, formerly of this county, the widow of Sanford Rowe, who was drowned in Green river at Rockport about 50 years ago, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Byron Maddox, Palo Pinto, Texas, on the 11th of this month. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Maddox, a sister and a brother, Mrs. J. L. R. Maddox, near Rockport, and Mr. Wils Render, of Butler county, Ky.

Mr. John G. Keith, of Horse Branch, announces in this issue of The Herald for the office of Jailor of Ohio county, subject to the action of the Democrats at the general primary to be held August 2, 1913. Mr. Keith is a staunch Democrat and has for many years been a good party worker and he is well qualified for the position he seeks. We bespeak for him a good following in his race for Jailor.

Mr. Jesse R. King died at his residence corner of Union and Mulberry streets, Hartford, last Friday, after an illness of over three months, which started with typhoid fever and developed into pneumonia and complications. He was born near Pleasant Ridge, this county, about fifty years ago, and lately was a well known teamster. He leaves a wife and two sons, one brother and two sisters. His remains were interred in the Ashley burying grounds, near Mt. Moriah, Sunday morning, under the auspices of the Odd Fellows and M. W. of A. lodges. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. D. Bennett, of Hartford.

MERCANTILE CO.'S STORE AT CENTERTOWN BURNED

The Centertown Mercantile Co.'s store at Centertown was destroyed by fire between 9 and 10 o'clock Sunday night. Cause of fire unknown. There had been no fire in the building since the night before. Loss on stock supposed to be from $10,000 to $12,000. Insurance, $7,000.

The building, which was owned by Rowe & Morton, valued at $2,500 to $3,000, was a total loss, there being no insurance carried on the structure.

PEOPLE WHO KNOW are going to buy a MAJESTIC RANGE during our DEMONSTRATION Week. YOU would too if you KNEW. Read our big ad. in this paper.

Valentine Party. Miss Katie Pendleton, city, entertained with a delightful Valentine party Friday afternoon, in honor of her house guests, Miss Arlene Cook, of Kuttawa, and Miss Lula Grundy, of Greenville. Rook was played and heart-shaped talies were used. After the games fortunes, which had been written by the players during the intermission, were read. A delicious, substantial lunch was served.

The guests of the evening were: Misses Arlene Cook, Lula Grundy, Hattie Glenn, Jennie Gillespie, Lucile Taylor, Willye Smith, Verna Duke, Ruth Riley, Mabel Jasper, Mary Salding, Lorraine Sullenger, Alma Riley, Gorin Flener, Hettie Riley, Mary Marks and Mrs. Otto Martin.

DEADLY PLAGUES OF THE WORLD

Have Carried Away Many Millions of Souls.

AS EARLY AS YEAR 767 B. C.

We Read of Scourges—China
Plague Carried Off 37,- 000,000 in Asia.

DEADLY TOLL OF MANY AGES

The terrible ravages cholera is making at the present time in Turkey remind one of many previous occasions when epidemics have carried off thousands at a time. As early as 767 B. C. we read of a plague, and again in 453 B. C. Rome suffered terribly. Athens was attacked by a pestilence in 430 B. C., which was believed to have been caused by their enemies poisoning the water supplies.

As many as 10,000 people a day fell victims to the plague at Rome in A. D. 59. So many people were killed during the epidemic which occurred in Britain during the fifth century that there were hardly sufficient left to bury the dead. In 772 Chichester lost 34,000 people, and in 954 Scotland lost 40,000. London was visited in the 10th and 11th centuries, and Ireland suffered severely in 1204.

The Oriental plague occurred between 1348 and 1352. It was known as the "black plague," on account of the black spots which appeared on the skin at death. It started in China in 1333, and the deaths numbered 12,000,000, and 24,000,000 succumbed in the rest of Asia. It appeared in Norway and Sweden in 1349 and 1352. About 2,000,000 fell victims to the black plague in England, of which 52,000 occurred in London alone.

The sweating sickness appeared in England four times during the 15th and 16th centuries, the first time in 1485, and lasted one month, in which 20,000 people died in London alone. It also visited Holland, Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Poland, and Russia between 1525 and 1530.

In the 17th century a pestilence broke out in London and carried off 30,000 people. In Lyons 60,000 died during 1632 through a scourge which swept over France. Italy lost 400,000 in six months in 1656.

In the 17th century Holland was visited by a plague; in Leyden 13,000 died of it, and the following year 13,287 died in Amsterdam. It was brought to London in bales of cotton by some Dutch merchants. This was the Plague of London, and, as everyone knows, about 100,000 persons died in one year.

Persia lost 80,000 from a pestilence in 1773, and Egypt 800,000 during 1790. Epidemics of cholera appeared in France several times during the 19th century, in which 18,000 people died in Paris between March and August, 1832. It appeared in England in 1848 and 1849, carrying off 13,161 persons, and 5,000 persons were carried off in London in 1866 in 15 weeks.

During recent years India has been heavily visited by plague—in Bombay, North-West Presidency, and Punjab, and a less degree in Burma, and other parts of India. In January, 1905, there was a weekly mortality of 20,000, reaching by steady increase a total of 57,702. By April 1 it had dropped to 4,000 weekly, but again reached 5,000 by the end of June. Two years after the number of victims amounted to as many as 1,316,000. —[Tid Bits.]

A Recipe For Soap Making.
Mrs. C. C. Sherrod, Kansas, sends us the following, which she recommends: "Two pounds of rosin, two pounds borax, one pound sal soda, four boxes good lye, eight and one-half gallons of rainwater, sixteen and one-half gallons of grease. First add water, then grease, then the other ingredients. Boil altogether one hour, after it begins to boil. Let cool, then cut out in pieces. Less than this quantity may be made by keeping the same proportions."

OLATON.

Feb. 14.—Mrs. Laura Nugent and little son, of Litchfield, were here several days last week as the guests of friends.

Mrs. James W. Hall, who has been ill at her home near McGrady Creek the past three weeks, is reported somewhat improved.

The epidemic of smallpox which has been so prevalent here the past several weeks prevented the filling of Rev. Vanboy's appointment at the M. E. Church, South, here recently. To date about half a hundred cases are reported as existing in and around Olaton. However, the most infected district seems confined near the Grayson line, east, and along the Dundee road, northwest from Olaton, and the strict quarantine tends to prevent somewhat the alarming spread of the disease.

The three children of Sam Jamison are ill, two of typhoid fever, cough and one of typhoid fever. Also Ed. Jamison's two children and Less Myers' child are ill of whooping cough.

The narrative portraying the alarming condition of the McLean county flood victims is indeed sad to contemplate, but many homes in this immediate community have been no less miserable—homes overpowered by illness, one member unable to relieve the sufferings of another and few friends able to respond to their calls and oftentimes smallpox precluding the idea of making a visit.

TOASTS.

For the Old Man's Darling—May she "sensitively" continue "keeping" the emotions of her heart from her head, and may she never envy the Young Man's Slave.

For the Young Man's Slave—May all her manacles be precious bracelets padlocked with keys of pearl; may all her chains be golden ones on white velvet cushions—and from the right jeweler's.

For the Widow—"There is balm for all our losses"—and the most delightful men are still bachelors whom nobody has succeeded in marrying.

For the Widower—There are no marriages in heaven, which is all the more reason why the Solitary should continue to buy engaging solitaires here.

For the Suffragette—May she always have the Right Man to meet her half way on the hard road of civic duty.

Cat Mint Courage.

The peculiar virtue of cat mint, one of the ten varieties of mint, is probably unknown to town-bred folk. "The root, when chewed," says Miss F. A. Bardswell in "The Herb Garden," "is said to make the most gentle person fierce and quarrelsome, and a legend is extant of a certain hangman who could never screw up his courage to the point of hanging till he had partaken of a generous portion of it."

PARCELS POST CARRIER
MUST SEE INTO LUGGAGE

New York, Feb. 15.—If you send your traveling bag by parcel post be sure to leave it unlocked.

A New York traveling man learned this lesson here when a postman brought him a grip he had left in Pittsburg and for which he had wired.

The parcel bore 64 cents in stamps, but because the bag was locked, it came as first-class matter and the owner had to pay $6.40.

The Commercial Club, the Louisville Convention and Publicity League and various other Commercial Organizations of the city are taking special pains to entertain the teachers and to make the Kentucky Educational Association which meets there on April 30, the greatest meeting of the Association ever held in the State. POVERTY IS GAINING
ON ANDREW CARNEGIE

Who Actually Gives Away $3 in Cash Without Any Strings
Tied To It.

New York, Feb. 14.—Ellis Island was thrown into the worst fever of excitement this afternoon it has known since Castro's visit.

Andrew Carnegie gave away $2. It was a cash gift, and the recipients did not have to raise an equal sum.

He was on the island when he gave it.

"Andy" Rooney got $2 and his brother Patrick got $1.

The Laird of Skibo landed on the island with a party of 12, among whom were several women, about noon. He announced that he was on a tour of observation and led the way to the detention room, which was filled with persons of eight or ten nationalities.

Mr. Carnegie's glance lighted upon "Andy" Rooney, 4 years old, and his brother, who were held there with their mother, Catherine Rooney, awaiting the arrival of the husband and father.

By the side of "Andy," who was crying, Mr. Carnegie stopped and smiled. "Andy" was not especially interested. Andrew Carnegie played no part in his scheme of existence.

"What are you crying for?" asked the giver of libraries.

"I want to go back to County Mayo," sobbed Andy.

"What is your name?"

"Andy, sir."

"My little man, you should not cry," said the ironmaster. "This is a great country and you shall have as fine a chance to be rich here as though you were the son of a King or an Earl."

This prospect of future wealth failed to comfort Andy, but when Mr. Carnegie handed him a two-dollar bill he quickly dried his tears.

Andy's younger brother Patrick witnessed the transaction and sidled up to the philanthropist. "I'm his brudder Patrick," he said insinuatingly.

Mr. Carnegie smiled and drew out another bill. It was only $1, but Patrick was satisfied.

TEN EVERY-DAY LIES.

Here are ten lies which are often heard:

Yes, we're out, but we have just ordered a lot of it.

I didn't care anything for the money. It was only the principle of the thing.

I would just like to have been in his place. I'd have showed them.

If I had that woman for a little while I'd teach her a few things.

If I'd catch a kid of mine at anything like that I'd blister him.

If I had a little money I know where I could go out and make a pile.

I never would care to be rich, just comfortably fixed.

My wife and I have never exchanged a cross word.

If you don't think it's a good thing for you, I don't want you to do it.

I've never seen such weather before. —[Kansas City Times.]

Children Cry

The Rub.

"He says his poor children need another mother."

"Then why doesn't he take one home?"

"Seems the children pay the rent, and they are very hard to convince."

CUTTING OUT LIQUOR—
PRESENT REQUIREMENT

The Chicago Cubs enter the new year riding on the water wagon. Ball players, of course, are supposed to keep fit under all circumstances. But from now on the Chicago championship contenders aren't to be allowed any discretion in the matter.

It's a spreading custom. The athlete has discovered through strenuous experience that he must "cut out booze." Other men, realizing that the competition of modern life is even more severe than the competition in athletic contests, are reasoning that if the athlete can't afford moderate drinking, no more can they.

The abstemious athlete, admired by all the young fellows in the country, is the greatest temperance lesson of the country. —[Kansas City Times.]

FIFTY-THREE EARS CORN
SOLD AT A DOLLAR EACH

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 14.—Commissioner of Agriculture J. W. Newman said to-day that already fifty-three ears of corn raised by Lester Bryant, of Warren county, the corn club champion, who died from asphyxiation while on a trip to Washington, had been sold at $1 apiece. The plan is to sell his corn at this price and use the money for erecting a suitable monument to his memory. He raised 147 bushels on an acre, and won the sweepstakes for the whole United States, the prize given for raising the most corn for the least expenditure.

The Stenotype.

The stenotype is a small machine upon which a new kind of shorthand, known as stenotype, is written. The speed attained on this machine is three to six times that of shorthand. Stenotype is taught with shorthand in the Bowling Green Business University.

NAMES WHAT IT TAKES TO RUN A NEWSPAPER

Many Things Besides Money Constantly Employed In the Business.

In a recent article commenting on the efforts of various organizations to secure free publicity, an Illinois editor made the statement that it took money to run a newspaper. Many other editors are laboring under a similar delusion, and for the benefit of this class, Thomas W. Mayor, publisher of the Record, St. Anne, Ill., pens the following:

"It takes money to run a newspaper? O, what an exaggeration! What a whopper! It doesn't take any money to run a newspaper. It can run without money. It is not a business venture. It is a charitable institution, a begging concern, a highway robber. The newspaper is a child of the air, a creature of a dream. It can go on and on and on, when any other concern would be in the hands of the receiver and wound up with cobwebs in the windows."

"It takes wind to run a newspaper; it takes gall to run a newspaper. It takes scintillating, acrobatic imagination, half a dozen white shirts and a railroad pass to run a newspaper. But money, heavens to Betsy and six hands around, who ever needed money to conduct a newspaper? Kind words are the medium of exchange that do business for the editor—kind words and church social tickets. When an editor has money, watch him. He'll be paying his bills and disgracing his profession. Never give money to an editor. Make him trade it out. He likes a swap."

"Then when you die, after you have stood around for years and sneered at the editor, his poor family and his little Jim Crow paper, be sure you have your wife send for three extra copies by one of your weeping children, and when she reads the generous and touching notice about you, forewarn her to neglect to send the editor fifteen cents. It would overwhelm him. Money is a corrupting thing. The editor knows it, and what he wants is your heartfelt thanks. Then he can thank the printers and they can thank the grocers. Give your job work to a traveling man, and then ask for half rates or free space for church notices. Get your lodge letter heads and stationery out of town, then flood the editor with beautiful thoughts in resolutions of respect and cards of thanks. They make such spicy reading, and you are so proud of your local paper when you pick it up, filled with these glowing mortuary articles."

"But money—scorn the filthy thing! Don't let the pite, innocent editor know anything about it. Keep that for sordid trades people who charge for their wares. The editor gives his bounty away. The Lord loves a cheerful giver. He takes care of the editor. He has a charter from the State to act as a door mat for the community. He will get out the paper somehow, and stand up for the town and whoop it up for you when you run for office. Don't worry about the editor—he'll get on. The Lord knows how—but somehow."

RURAL CARRIER KICKS ABOUT THE PARCEL POST

The rural mail carriers as a rule are not pleased with the parcels post law, and the department at Washington is hearing from them in the way of loud and long knocks. A certain carrier registered his complaint in the following to his Congressman: "I sent myself with pen in my hand to write you a few lines to let you know that you have played the devil with me. When I took the contract to carry the mail the express company was doing a pretty good business, and I got 10 cents for each express package and 10 cents and a drink for every jug. You fixed the law so I couldn't carry the jug, and now you have fixed up a thing called the possum post law, and the express company don't handle any more packages. When I made this trade to carry the mail I didn't know anything about the darned foolishness of sending farming implements through the mail. I ain't a man to quit his job, but I have got to have some help."

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALES.

Ohio Circuit Court, Kentucky.
Bank of Fordville, Plaintiff,
vs.
Marvin Bean, Defendant.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Ohio Circuit Court, rendered at the October term, 1912, in the above cause for the sum of $500, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the 10th day of March, 1912, until paid, and the further sum of $500 with like interest from the 5th day of June, 1912, and cesis herein, I will offer for sale by public auction at the court house door in Hartford, on Monday, the 2d day of March, 1913, about one o'clock p. m., upon a credit of six and twelve months, the following described property, to-wit:

A certain lot in the town of Hartford, Ohio county, Kentucky, on Walnut street and Beech alley, known as lot No. 95, in plot of the town of Hartford, and containing one-half acre, same conveyed to Marvin Bean by Luther Phipps and wife, March 21, 1900, as shown by deed of record in Ohio County Clerk's office, in Deed Book No. 23, page 6.

The above house and lot will be sold first to pay the debt, interest and cost of J. D. Duke, and next to pay the debt, interest and cost of Bank of Fordville, and the remainder, if any, to be paid to defendant Bean.

The purchaser will be required to execute bond with approved security immediately after sale.

This 10th day of February, 1913.

vs.

W. B. Balze, et al., Defendants.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Ohio Circuit Court, rendered at the October term, 1912, in the above cause for the sum of $300.00, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the 22d day of February, 1908, until paid, subject to the following credits: $76.73 paid June 30, 1912, and $233.80 paid January 1, 1912, and $61.95 costs herein, I will offer for sale by public auction at the court house door in Hartford, on Monday, the 3d day of March, 1913, about one o'clock p. m., upon a credit of six months, the following described property, to-wit:

8½x12 (18 h. p.) portable engine, complete, No. 13607, also one Aultman & Taylor sawmill and one set of corn burs, located in Ohio county, Kentucky. Recorded in Mortgage Book No. 1, page 342, February 27, 1908, in Ohio County Clerk's office.

A certain tract or parcel of land lying in Ohio county, Kentucky, on the head waters of Sixes creek, being in the Northeast corner of his home tract, known as the Isaac Balze tract, sold by the Master Commissioner of Ohio county, Kentucky, and on the South side of the Horse Branch and Giltstrap road, and bounded as follows:

Beginning at a stone, corner to T. J. Wilson, W. W. Balze and Marion Phegley's original corner; thence with said big road about 42 poles to a stone, Henry Spencer's corner; thence South about one hundred yards to a stone; thence East about 42 poles to a stone in the big road; thence with said big road to the beginning, containing four acres, more or less. The above land was conveyed to Walton Balze by Marion Phegley and Sallie Phegley and H. N. James and Lillie James on the 20th day of December, 1906, and recorded in Deed Book 32, page 185, in the Ohio County Court Clerk's office, or sufficient thereof to produce the sums of money ordered to be made.

The purchaser will be required to execute bond with approved security immediately after sale.

This 10th day of February 1913.
E. E. BIRKHEAD,
Master Commissioner.
Likens & Crowe, Attorneys.

CHILDREN BARLEY OUT OF CRADLE EMPLOYED

In New York Factories—A Three-Year Old Laboring
In Big Cannery.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14.—How children of tender years slave for hours in canning sheds, with their blistered fingers wrapped in rags; how they likewise toil in tenements, making toys, flowers and plumes, and how women toil sometimes for mere pittance in industrial establishments in this State, is graphically described in the report of the New York State Factory Investigating Commission, submitted to the Legislature to-day.

The report says canners operating in the rural districts have never obeyed the State child labor law "because they never have had to." "The employment of mere babies," the commission holds, has been the result, and it adds that of 1,259 children found at work in thirty-three sheds, the oldest was 14 and the youngest 3.

Many of the canners, the report explains, are opposed to the employment of children, and half of them do not resort to it, but, "as the canning industry is largely devoted to exploitation of foreigners, the parents of the children make them work."

Of women workers the report says:

"No woman can work from sixteen to twenty-one and one-half hours a day for weeks, in some cases even months, without permanent injury to her health. Yet women are doing just this thing in the up-State canneries, in binderies and other factories, and in the shops during the six-weeks Christmas rush. In the large canneries the work keeps up pretty regularly during a season of four or five months. A week of eighty-five to ninety-four hours, and in one case 119½ working hours, is not followed by a week of comparative rest, but by another almost as bad. And the pay averages 10 cents an hour."

The commission recommends the creation of an industrial board with power to make regulations to fit every industry.

No Need to Stop Work.

When the doctor orders you to stop work it staggers you. "I can't," you say. You know you are weak, run down and failing in health day by day, but you must work as long as you can stand. What you need is Electric Bitters to give tone, strength and vigor to your system, to prevent break down and build you up. Don't be weak, sickly or ailing when Electric Bitters will benefit you from the first dose. Thousands bless them for their glorious health and strength. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at James H. Williams.

PROGRESSIVE IDEAS OF OUR NEXT PRESIDENT

"We are in the presence of a new organization of society. Our life has broken away from the past. We have changed our economic conditions, absolutely, from top to bottom; and, with our economic society, the organization of our life. The old political formulas do not fit the present problems; they read now like documents taken out of a forgotten age. . . . The life of the nation has grown infinitely varied. It does not center now upon questions of governmental structure or of the distribution of governmental powers. It centers upon questions of the very structure and operation of society itself, of which government is only the instrument. A new economic society has sprung up, and we must effect a new set of adjustments. . . . Our laws still deal with us on the basis of the old system. The law is still living in the dead past which we have left behind."—[Woodrow Wilson in current issue of World's Work.]

MCHENRY COAL CAR CASE TO GET HEARING

Washington, Feb. 10.—A hearing on what is called the McHenry coal case, in which a sweeping complaint is made against the Illinois Central Railroad company, alleging discrimination in car distribution, will be held at Louisville, March 3.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has directed Special Examiner Marshall to conduct the hearing. The complaints are the Taylor Coal company, with headquarters at Beaver Dam, Ohio county, and Williams Coal company, with headquarters at McHenry, in the same county.

SPECIAL DEMONSTRATION

AND SALE ON

Great Majestic Ranges

One Week Only February 24 to March 1, 1913 One Week Only

SAVE $8.00

As a special inducement during our demonstration week only, with every MAJESTIC RANGE sold (prices always the same) we will give free one handsome set of ware as illustrated here.

Every piece of this ware is the best of its kind. Not a piece that is not needed in every kitchen. It cannot possibly be bought for less than $8.00. This ware is on exhibition at our store. DON'T FAIL TO SEE IT.

SPECIAL

All during this week a special demonstrator direct from the MAJESTIC FACTORY will be glad to show you "ALL ABOUT RANGES"—SHOW YOU why the MAJESTIC is the best range on earth at any price.

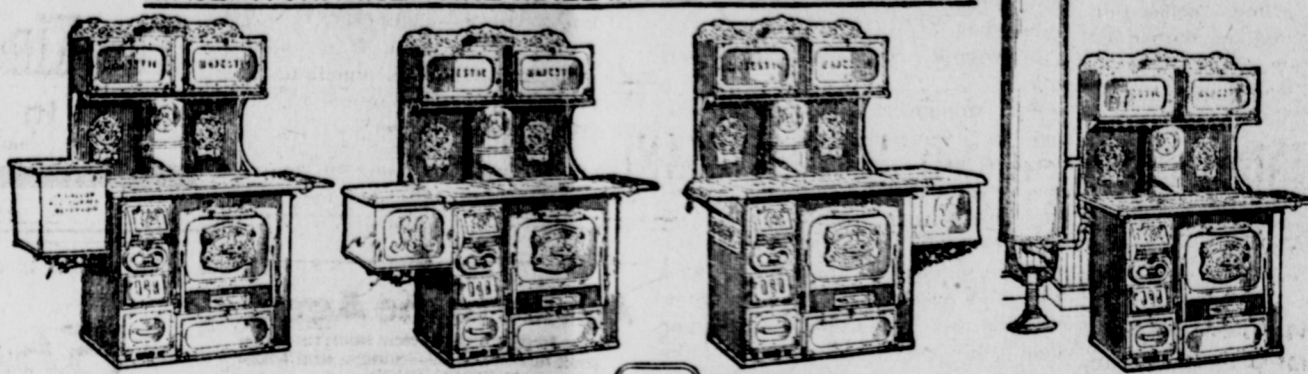

COME, IF YOU INTEND TO BUY OR NOT

EDUCATION lies in KNOWING

THINGS—KNOW why the oven of a range is heated—KNOW how the water is heated—HOW the top is heated—WHY the MAJESTIC uses so little fuel—KNOW how a range is made inside and outside. This education may serve you in the future. DON'T OVERLOOK a chance to KNOW THINGS shown by one who knows. COME.

SET OF WARE FREE

MAJESTIC RANGES ARE MADE IN ALL SIZES AND STYLES

MAJESTIC NEVER-BURN COOKER
STEAMER-CULLENDER AND DRAINER
HEAVY STAMPED IRON MARBLEIZED
KETTLE 18 OZ. ALL COPPER TEA KETTLE
14 OZ. ALL COPPER
COFFEE POT

HEAVY MARBLEIZED PUDDING PAN
1 LARGE NEVER-BURN WIRED DRIPPING PAN. 2 SMALL NEVER-BURN WIRED DRIPPING PANS.
2 SMALL DRIP PANS.
CAN ALSO BE USED AS ROASTER

Which Shall It Be?

Do you intend to continue laboring, burning valuable fuel and destroying high-priced food with that old worn out cook stove?

You know that old stove eats up a lot of fuel each year.

You know you have trouble in getting it to bake just right in fact, spoil a batch of bread every once in a while—you know it costs considerable for yearly repairs.

Stop and think and figure.

Wouldn't it pay you to buy a good range—a range with a reputation—

The Great Majestic Malleable and Charcoal Iron Range?

You make no mistake in buying the GREAT MAJESTIC—it's the range with THE REPUTATION—ask your neighbors. Then, too, it's made just right and of the right kind of material—MALLEABLE AND CHARCOAL IRON—riveted together practically air tight—lined with pure asbestos board—parts being malleable can't break—has a movable reservoir and an oven that don't warp—that's why the MAJESTIC uses so little fuel, bakes just right every day in the year (brown bread just right all over without turning), heats 15 gallons of water while breakfast is cooking—properly handled lasts a lifetime, and costs practically nothing for repairs.

Don't buy the range you expect to last a lifetime "unsight unseen;" you'll be sure to be disappointed. Come to our store during demonstration week, see the GREAT MAJESTIC—have its many exclusive features explained—find out why the MAJESTIC is 800 per cent stronger than other ranges where most ranges are weakest.

DON'T OVERLOOK THE DATE. THIS IS A SPECIAL INVITATION TO YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

CROMWELL.

Feb. 17.—Rev. Birch Shields filled his regular appointment here Sunday night.

Mrs. Thomas Bradley, who has been sick for the past few days, is able to be up again.

Mrs. Nancy Keown, whose illness was mentioned some time ago, is improving.

Mr. Ernest Dunn, of East St. Louis, Ill., is visiting his father here.

Miss Mae Borah went to Evansville, Ind., Friday and returned Sunday night.

Messrs. Oscar and Leslie Borah and Jim Flener have returned from Evansville, Ind., where they took a raft of logs.

Dr. Joe Taylor, of Hartford, is in town to-day.

Mrs. Charlie Rogers, who has been in bad health for some time, is getting along nicely now.

The wife and children of W. A. Wallace gave him a surprise birthday dinner Saturday, February 15, it being his 67th anniversary. Also his grandson's birthday—Otto Wallace, 6 years old. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Wallace and six children, Mr. and Mrs. Willburn Wallace and four children, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Wallace and three children, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wallace and baby, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Porter, Mr. C. D. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Martin and three children, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Martin and one child, Mr. Geo. Daugherty, Mr. John Keown, Miss Vena Keown, of Nebraska.

Here is a message of hope and good cheer from Mrs. C. J. Martin, Boone Hill, Va., who is the mother of eighteen children. Mrs. Martin was cured of stomach trouble and constipation by Chamberlain's Tablets after five years of suffering, and now recommends these tablets to the public. Sold by all dealers.

BENNETTS.

Feb. 18.—The A. S. of E. Lodge met at Bennett's schoolhouse Saturday evening and was largely attended. Bro. Balmaia was called to Vine Hill schoolhouse Saturday night to organize a local. He was accompanied by Messrs. Jim Cecil, Tom Anderson, Earl Austin, Byron Bean, Bob Milburn, Frank Maples, Lowell Bennett and John Bennett. They failed to organize, but it is to be hoped that they will meet again and will organize soon.

Miss Loretta Crowder, of this place, visited Misses Maude and Vera Crowder, of Horton, Saturday and Sunday.

Misses Maude and Viola Waddle visited relatives at Williams Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Will Chapman was the guest of his parents near Barnett's Creek Sunday.

Miss Lennis Laws and Mr. Bernie McDowell, who have been on the sick list, are no better.

Mr. Chas. Hawkins and Miss Loretta Crowder, of this place, have entered the Hartford school.

Messrs. Berry Hawkins and Jesse Chinn, of Beaver Dam, visited relatives in this neighborhood Saturday night and Sunday.

Primary elections for the selection of fourth-class postmasters are provided for in an amendment to the Post-office Appropriation Bill.

BEAVER DAM.

Feb. 17.—Mr. George Barnes, Jr., living out the Hartford pike one mile from town, is a prosperous farmer, having everything in fine shape at his beautiful home, and last Wednesday morning his good wife presented him with a ten-pound Democrat. All are doing well and George wears a pleasant smile.

Donovan & Co. have closed out their drug business in our town and have moved to Central City, where they will engage in the same business. We regret their leaving, but Mr. Plavius Baker will occupy the same room with a new stock of groceries.

Rev. A. B. Gardner leaves this evening for Quincy, Ill., to assist Rev. Jo. B. Rogers in a revival meeting in that city.

Miss Mollie Martin, superintendent of the Feeble-Minded Institute at Frankfort, Ky., is here on a vacation. She is the guest of her mother at Taylor Mines, and her sister, Mrs. Mattie Smothers, of this place.

Mr. Edgar Vaughn, of Adairville, Ky., was in town last week, visiting friends, and from present indications in the near future there will be one less living in our town.

Rev. Worth Wade, of Morgantown, was in town Sunday and filled the Baptist pulpit Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Likens and Miss Alta Likens, of Caneyville, Ky., were visiting their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Likens, Sunday.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid gave a candy-pulling at the new grocery store of Mr. Flavius Baker Saturday evening. All who attended were made very sweet and the good ladies received a handsome sum of money for their labors.

For That Terrible Itching.

Eczema, tetter and salt rheum keep their victims in perpetual torment. The application of Chamberlain's Salve will instantly allay this itching, and many cases have been cured by its use. For sale by all dealers.
